'Offered $15,000 To Lie on Curley'

"My statement before Judge Fosdick was untrue."

"Osborn and Rand prevailed on me to make an affidavit. They offered me $15,000."

"They told me Curley had brought suit against the Herald-Traveler and that they wanted to discredit him."

That, Police Captain John F. McCarthy testified at the Graves perjury trial before Judge Harold Williams in Suffolk criminal court today, was what Frederick H. Graves told him while he was bringing him back to Boston, under arrest, from Chicago last August.

"He said, 'I've been tomor around by Rand, Osborn and McCannan. I'm going to take care of Frederick Graves,'" McCarthy testified.

Nazi Spy Ring Faked F.R. Name

Ex-Sgt. Rumrich

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—United States Attorney Lamar Hardy told a federal jury today that German spies had transmitted to the Berlin government data on the American artillery forces in the Panama Canal Zone, the strength of the American Navy on the East Coast, and the specifications of two American aircraft carriers.

Members of this spy ring, he asserted, were three prisoners seated before the jury—Johanna Hoffmann, 26, former beautician on the German liner Europa; Otto Hermann Voss, 36, naturalized citizen born in Germany, and Erich Glaser, 28, naturalized citizen born in Germany and former United States Army soldier.

FORGED F. R.'S NAME

Hardy, opening the trial of the three on espionage charges, told the jury that the spy ring had forged President Roosevelt's signature to a fictitious order to the navy for the aircraft carrier specifications.

A fourth prisoner, Guenther Gustav Rumrich, pleaded guilty at the opening of the trial and will testify as a government witness.

Hardy described the alleged conspiracy as directed from Germany, with contact men transferring messages back and forth to agents of German extration in this country.

The prosecutor charged Berlin suggested that Colonel Henry W. T. Eglin, commandant of Fort Totten, a lay point of New York defense might be lured away from the fort with a portfolio of secret information about the fort and that the colonel be put out of the way.

He said two officials of German steamship lines in this country aided in establishing the contact between agents in this country and their directors abroad.

USED BANKER'S HOME

He said a German named Sander, said to be attached to naval intelligence at Bremen, Germany, had told Rumrich to try to obtain information about operations in American commercial plants, particularly the duPont Company and Bethlehem Steel.

"The Fore River plant in Quincy is operated by Bethlehem Steel and at present is building one of the two aircraft carriers mentioned."

William Lonkowski, one of the alleged higher-ups in the ring, was said by Hardy to have represented himself as a piano tuner and obtained secrets of a military nature from the defendant Voss, an aviation mechanic.

Hardy described Voss and Lonkowski as meeting at the house of Miss Senta de Wanger, a German banker's daughter, who is in protective custody.

He said Dr. Ignatz Theodore

'Reds' Flayed At Eucharist Rites

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17 (AP)—Catholic leaders of the nation gathered today for opening of the Eighth National Eucharistic Congress, while Bishop Joseph EUCCHARISTIC CONGRESS—As a great reception was being planned for George Cardinal Mundelein at the Eucharistic Congress in New Orleans, it was announced that Joseph V. Connolly, general manager of Hearst Enterprises, will address the Congress over a nationwide hookup tomorrow.

Schrems, of Cleveland, in an interview, blamed the "sad condition of the world" upon the influence of Communism and of men "trying to grasp power."

The bishop expressed satisfaction, however, in the religious and political freedom enjoyed by Americans.

"In the so-called totalitarian state," said Bishop Schrems, the people are cogs in a machine without liberty or self-expression.

"I attribute the sad condition of the world, which is living in a mass, to the influence of Communism and of men trying to grasp power and rule by force."

HITS DICTATORSHIPS

He said that in Germany, Chancellor Adolf Hitler, playing on the popular pulse, got the people behind him by raising the question of national honor. He warned that no dictatorship could last long.

Noon today signified informal opening of the congress, greatest religious gathering in this city's history, with 14 of the country's 19 archbishops expected, along with 86 of the 94 bishops and about 400 monsignors.

Attention centered upon arrival of George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, legate of Pope Pius XI, whose special train was due at 12. Plans then called for movement of the procession through streets massed with the curious and devout to old St. Louis Cathedral.

After elaborate ceremonies there a period of rest was arranged for the cardinal, prior to a reception at City Auditorium tonight.

Postmaster-General James A. Farley, representing President Roosevelt, and Governor Richard W. Leche, of Louisiana, were scheduled speakers at the reception.

Tomorrow the cardinal will formally open the congress with a solemn high pontifical mass at a liturgical altar built in City Park Stadium, equipped to seat 65,000 persons.

Ruth Etting Blames Ex-Mate

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (AP)—Jealousy?—or self-defense? These clashed as rival theories today to explain the shooting of singer Ruth Etting's new husband by her divorced mate and former business manager, Martin (Moe) Snyder.

Snyder, held in jail on suspicion of kidnaping and attempting to murder Myrl Alderman, 30-year-old bridegroom and radio musician, was curtly quoted by police as saying:

"He was shooting at me, so I shot at him. Ruth won't prosecute me, because she still loves me." But there was scant affection in Miss Etting's silver voice as she angrily blamed the gunplay in her luxurious home Saturday night on Snyder, whom she had divorced in Chicago last November after 17 years of wedded life.

"I don't believe I will ever sing again . . . ever," she said, sitting beside the hospital bed of Alderman, who secretly married her in Tia Juana, Lower Calif., last July.

STORY "RIDICULOUS"

"Snyder was merely jealous. He's not satisfied unless he's making trouble. He's threatened to kill me before—and even telephoned from New York last January to threaten me."

"Snyder's story that Myrl shot at him is ridiculous. That boy never owned a gun. I did, though, one that I had had for years. Snyder's gun was the only one there Saturday night until Myrl had been shot and was lying on the floor. Then I slipped into the bedroom and got mine."

"Snyder saw it. He took it away from me and threw it on the floor. Edith Snyder picked it up and shot at him—her own father. I believe that girl would lay down her life for me. Saturday night she almost did."

Miss Snyder, Miss Etting's stepdaughter and secretary, conversed with the singer and Alderman's recital of events. This was:

That Snyder, at pistol point,

Vanishing Mother Hunted Mystery Baby's Father Appears

Police today redoubled their efforts to find the mother of 17-months-old Robert Bruno as Boston City Hospital officials announced that the father of the child had appeared, but was unable to take the baby home.

Robert was left at the hospital for a minor operation last Friday by a woman who gave the name of Mrs. Mary Bruno, "Hancock street, Boston."

Hospital officials were unable to find her at that address the next day to notify her that the baby was ready to be discharged.

In the meantime Anthony Bruno of Harrison avenue, South End, father of the baby, visited the hospital and informed officials he and Mrs. Bruno were living apart.

He said that he was taking care of one child already and would find it difficult to look after Robert, too.

Police of Fields Corner Station, originally requested by hospital executives, to find Mrs. Bruno, asked other police precincts to assist.

It was stated at the hospital Robert, fully recovered from his operation, would be kept in the children's ward until Mrs. Bruno appeared.

If she did not do so, it was said, other arrangements would be made for his care.

SALEM, Oct. 17.—The first Mrs. John F. Williams of Boardman street, Salem, testified in probate court today for the second Mrs. John F. Williams of Essex street, Lynn, who is seeking an annulment of her marriage.

The first Mrs. Williams was divorced in 1934. In May, 1937, Williams married his second wife in Newton, N. H., after a three months' whirlwind courtship, the court was told.

In February of this year, the second Mrs. Williams said, her husband left her and told her for the first time of the existence of his first wife. At the same time he revealed that his second marriage had been illegal because his first divorce was not final, she said. The case, uncontested, was taken under advisement.

Sleep Powder Fatal to Nurse

Honor graduate of Simmons College, Amelia Miezwa, 23, registered nurse, died today at Melrose Hospital from an overdose of sleeping powders.

She was found unconscious in bed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Miezwa, at their home, West Water street, Wakefield, late Thursday.

Miss Miezwa graduated from Simmons College in 1936. She recently finished her course at Malden Hospital Training School.

'Perfect Husband' on Trial For Life in Killing of Rival

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (INS)—Rudolph Sikora, who killed his wife's sweetheart in a frenzied attempt to win her back, went on trial for his life today.

Pretty Margaret Sikora, however, still shunned her "perfect husband" as the trial opened, and said she could never forgive him for slaying the man to whom she had turned for a more exciting love. She will be a witness for the prosecution.

Sikora will plead he was emotionally insane when he fired the fatal shot at Edward Solomon on the morning of August 22.

Wilmington Boy Held in Murder

Said to have made a confession of the crime, 14-year-old Gary Lester Ames, Forest court, Wilmington, was held by Kearney, Neb., police today in connection with a mutilation-murder there.

With him also is held Don Galloway, 21, of Mansfield, O.

Young Ames, a pupil in the eighth grade in Wilmington public school, left home about a month ago after telling schoolmates he was "going out West to seek his fortune." He had run away from home on a previous occasion, in April, but returned.

Victim of the mutilation-murder was tentatively identified as H. A. Billings, a transient, believed to have a wife in Chicago, according to Sheriff George Sears.

The sheriff said Galloway admitted shooting Billings and Ames confessed mutilating the body. Billings was shot after being beaten on the head with a large sugar beet; the prisoners were quoted as admitting.

Ames and Galloway first declared Billings was killed because they feared he was about to attack them, but later admitted their motive was robbery. Billings had a small sum of money.

The slaying took place in a box car from which the body was later thrown, the sheriff said.

SHOCK TO FRIENDS

Word that young Ames was held in Kearney came as a shock to Wilmington police and the boy's former teachers and friends.

Police Chief Harry Ainsworth declared he had never been in trouble in Wilmington and that

Baby Winning Fight for Eye

While his parents and thousands of well-wishers hoped—and prayed—little Jimmie Maloof, 16-months-old glaucoma victim, progressed "satisfactorily" today at City Hospital.

Doctors declared the removal of his sightless and sorely-infected right eye had saved his life, and that the long fight to save the left one was off to a good start.

Physicians throughout the nation watched the progress of the mite's plight while thousands of interested parents wrote, telephoned or telegraphed their sympathy and hopes for recovery.

High-voltage X-ray was the instrument with which doctors hoped to curb the cancerous growth which already has affected one-quarter of the child's remaining eye.

Pathological examinations will not be completed for several days, and until that time no optimistic predictions could be made on whether or not Jimmie will be able to see even if the growth is halted.

MOTHER IN PRAYER

Meanwhile, Jimmie's mother, Mrs. Elias Maloof of Oak street, South End, prays constantly for his recovery, and for his sight.

She has been told he may regain sight in his remaining eye. He may die. Or he may live sightless. But the plucky mother centers all her thoughts only on the first possibility.

"I can't bring myself to think of him going through life blind," she said. "Neither can I think of death. And while there is one chance left, I'm not going to think of either. It's asking too much of me."

"And there is the chance further treatments may save the sight in Jimmie's left eye."

DO NOT SPEAK

Mrs. Maloof, with her husband, visited Jimmy during the visiting hour at the hospital today.

"We didn't talk, because the baby cries when he hears our voices," she explained. "But he appeared to be sleeping so peacefully."

Mrs. Maloof paid her daily visit to St. Joseph's Church, on Tyler street.

"It all rests in God's hands," she added. "But Jimmy would be so dependent if he were to go through life blind. But if God willed it that way, I must take it. But I can't think of it."

Whew! Its' Our Hottest Oct. 17

Today's temperature broke the all-time heat record for October 17.

By 1 p. m. the mercury had climbed to 86, six degrees higher than the record set in 1928.

There were only 11 days last summer hotter than today.

A heat prostration was reported in Bridgeport, Ct., where the temperature was in the 80's.

In Portland, Me., a 50-year record for Oct. 17 was broken when the mercury hit 83. Cooler weather was promised for tomorrow.

Hottest October day on record was October 1, 1888, when the mercury reached 90 degrees.

Big Liner Due As Fog Lifts

For the second time in as many days a group of 175 New England passengers bound for Mediterranean ports today flocked to Commonwealth Pier to board the fog-bound Italian liner Vulcania.

Last reports indicated the ship would dock this afternoon, 30 hours overdue from New York on its outward passage, and sail as soon as passengers had embarked.

Dispersal of the fog which held the Vulcania in Vineyard Sound today also allowed normal resumption of shipping at other points on the New England coast.

On land, lifting of the haze permitted commercial air-lines in and out of Boston to resume scheduled trips and removed a traffic hazard for automobiles that had persisted over the week-end.

Two shipping casualties caused by the fog were reported in Boston harbor.

The freighter Severance was rammed by the oil tanker Kiddon near Graves Light and a fishing schooner ran aground off Spectacle Island.

The fishing vessel floated later at high tide. The Severance, slightly damaged, was towed into East Boston for repairs.

Demands State Probe Bund Here

Investigation of subversive Nazi propaganda, allegedly fostered by the German Bund in Massachusetts, was demanded today by Representative Albert E. Morris of Everett.

Morris said he would ask Atty. Gen. Paul A. Dever to conduct this inquiry. He said:

"I have received information of certain, strong nationalistic activities in this state.

"It may be a counterpart of the Bund work in New York and New Jersey which already has been exposed.

ONLY ONE SALUTE

"I oppose the formation and military drill of any group of men and women pledged to the interests of any country other than our own country.

"There is no place in Massachusetts for any salute but the American salute, and no place for any arm emblem designating adherence to European dictatorship."

Recently John C. Metcalfe, investigator for the Dies Committee on un-American activities, testified the German Bund had shooting ranges in Eastern states, in the Midwest and on the Pacific Coast.

BUND WIDENS SCOPE

Morris asserted the Bund in Massachusetts has widely extended its influence and is engaged in "various activities."

Two years ago Morris persuaded the Legislature to pass a resolution condemning religious persecutions in Germany.

The resolution was passed and received national publicity.

Steamer Crash At Sea Reported

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Maritime Exchange reported that the Pacific Sun and the Esso collided about 9:30 a. m. today but that damage was not serious.

The exchange said the scene of the collision was not definite but that it was "probably off the Delaware Capes." Both vessels continued under their own power.

Driver Recovers After Train Wreck

Paul G. Apper, 42, of Akron, O., today was recovering at Cambridge City Hospital from minor injuries, suffered when the 20-ton trailer truck he was driving was overturned by a freight train at the Pacific street crossing in Cambridge.

Both the train and trailer were barely moving when the accident occurred. A railroad wrecker righted the truck and cleared the crossing.

U. S. High Court May Decide on Bridges Ouster

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to pass on litigation which may affect possible deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader.

Acting on a government petition, the tribunal consented to review a decision by the fifth circuit court reversing a deportation order against Joseph G. Strecker of Hot Springs, Ark.

The controversy may bring a ruling on whether an alien Communist is subject to deportation. The court refused to pass on an appeal by Wilfred Jones, convicted in the St. Louis "gift of God" baby case and sentenced to serve 10 years in a federal penitentiary.

The government contended that he and three others attempted to obtain money from a St. Louis physician on representations that the physician was the father of a child claimed to have been born to Mrs. Nellie T. Muench.

It declined to review an Illinois decision requiring William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, to account for $72,794 spent in 1927 in a campaign to obtain congressional enactment of Mississippi flood control legislation.

It decided to continue hearing arguments from opposing counsel on validity of National Labor Relations Board order directing the Consolidated Edison Company of New York to abrogate a collective bargaining contract with an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

Skippers Irked By Race Delay

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 17.—The "doldrums" that have caused postponement of the International Fishermen's Trophy race five times in the past eight days were getting under the skins of Captains Angus Walters and Ben Pine, rival skippers, today.

Soupy fog and no breeze worth mentioning prevented their racing yesterday, so present plans are to sail the third contest of the series tomorrow, "weather permitting."

Tomorrow's course will be off Gloucester, twice around the 18-mile, sometimes called the "merry-go-round," triangle.

"What does the committee think we are—the Halifax ferry?" he was quoted as demanding angrily. "If this keeps up I'll have to get a horse to navigate between H-e-n and Gloucester."

Referring to Captain Charles M. Lyons, race committee chairman, Walters said:

"Lyons ought to go back to the farm and drive a horse. No, I wouldn't do that to the horse!"

Walters was all set to give Lyons "a piece of his mind," he said, but Lyons outsmarted him by bringing Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt aboard the Bluenose with him as guests.

So, with the son and daughter-in-law of the President aboard, Walters had to swallow his rage and be on his best behavior.

"But I'll not return to Boston again. That's final," Walters said. Captain Pine aboard the Gertrude L. Thebaud was having his troubles, too. Going down Gloucester harbor, the Thebaud hit a rock.

No apparent damage was done, but Captain Pine has had her hauled up on a marine railway for inspection, nevertheless.

Reed Denies Widow Hired as His Spy

Philip Loring Reed, Boston financial magnate, sued for $50,000 by Mrs. Ione Nugent, Chicago widow, denied in Dedham court today that he had ever hired her as a "confidential investigator."

At the same time, Reed testified he had given her "eight or ten" checks ranging from $100 to $1400, but considered them as "loans."

Reed was called to the stand by Attorney Anthony DiCecce, counsel for Mrs. Nugent, immediately after she finished her testimony.

She based her suit on allegations that Reed had failed to pay her for her services as a quasi-lobbyist at Washington and as a private investigator of his business rivals elsewhere.

Reed corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Nugent that they met for the first time in the spring of 1937 at a hotel in New York City.

He told the court the meeting was by pre-arrangement and that he was able to identify the widow by a hat she told him she would wear.

He denied that part of her testimony which described the meeting as a "cocktail party."

"LOAN? DOUBTED IT?"

Reed also denied that check for $200 produced in evidence was payment for a bill contracted by Mrs. Nugent at the Ritz Carlton Hotel in Boston in March of this year.

He said he made the check out to the hotel treasurer and asked him to forward the money to Mrs. Nugent in another city.

"Was this a loan also?" asked Attorney DiCecce. "I was beginning to doubt it," Reed replied.

Jury Hears Spy Charges

Griebel, one of the defendants who fled to Germany on the eve of the inquiry, was "a great believer in the national socialist party" and permitted his home to be used as a sort of clearing house for the ring.

SPIES IN AIR PLANTS

He said Griebel had conferred with Lieut.-Commander Udo von Bonin, attached to the defense office of the German war ministry, at the Eden Hotel, Berlin.

Captain Erich Pfeiffer, another of the defendants now in Germany, Hardy said, once boasted he had agents in every important airplane plant in America, and that Pfeiffer had offered Griebel a commission in the medical corps of the German army.

Miss Hoffmann, when arrested, he said, had $70 in her purse—$30 to be given to Hunsrich and $40 to the man who furnished a secret code.

Panama Spy Suspects Turned Over to Police

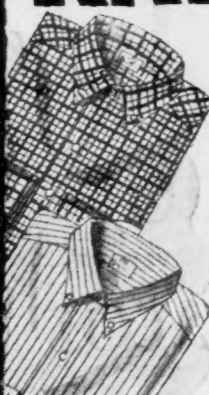

PANAMA, Oct. 17 (AP)—Four German espionage suspects, accused of photographing key defenses to the Panama Canal, were turned over today by United States military authorities to canal zone police at the Cristobal jail.

District Attorney J. J. McGuigan assumed direction of investigating their alleged picture-taking yesterday.

Kurt Lindbergh, German consul at Cristobal, who offered his services to help a military investigation, blamed the incident on an innocent Sunday outing which, he said, led the picnickers into forbidden zones.

WORTH A DIME

'Felt Like It,' Shot

CHINA, Me. Oct. 17 (AP)—John G. Shephard, 31, a farm laborer, was charged with assault with intent to kill today after police said, he walked into the home of Ralph Farris, 38, asked "how are you?" and shot him.

Police quoted Shephard as saying:

"I had a feeling I wanted to shoot something. I took a .22 rifle and went to Farris' home and shot him."

Hungary Issue Still Seethes

By the Associated Press

With Hungary partly mobilized and her territorial issue with Czechoslovakia in suspense, Europe today still wrestled with the difficult problem of readjustment to Germany's expanding power and influence.

Baron Bothmer of the Budapest foreign office declared that Czechoslovakia must make a new proposal before Hungary takes further action in her demands for Hungarian-populated regions of Czechoslovakia.

Such an offer to lay a basis for renewing the interrupted Komarom conversations, is expected shortly, Baron Bothmer said. But, he added, any new plan would be made more difficult to accept because of "increased Czechoslovak atrocities" in Hungarian minority regions.

STILL MOVES TROOPS

Hungary, despite a general feeling that chances for a peaceful settlement have brightened considerably, still moved men and equipment to the Czechoslovak frontier. The cabinet, meanwhile, met to consider suggestions of Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini of Italy for settling the dispute.

In Britain, a new note of national unity emerged to back a quickened rearmament pace. The Cabinet was expected shortly to approve large new arms expenditures, a register of men and women to determine defense resources and, possibly, the creation of a new ministry for volunteer defense work.

Germany's economics minister, Walther Funk, predicted Germany soon would find the raw materials she needs in Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Turkey.

Returning from a good will tour, Funk described those states as "a sort of Balkan axis extending from the German border to the Black Sea."

Czechoslovakia also appeared ready to revolve in Germany's economic orbit. Reichsfuehrer Hitler has assured Prague that Czechoslovakia can retain her culture and attain greater prosperity by co-operating with Germany.

Czechoslovakia, if not convinced of a bright future, apparently feel it necessary to pin their hopes on Berlin.

FOIL ANTI-FASCIST PLOT

Italy's secret police today announced discovery and disruption of a large-scale plot against Premier Mussolini's Fascist regime with the arrest of several persons including a Florentine Jew reported to be a member of the famed Rothschild banking family.

Meanwhile, official Italian circles strongly hinted that Czechoslovakia must come within the sphere of the Rome-Berlin axis before Hitler and Mussolini are satisfied.

In Spain insurgent air squadrons made widespread raids today on the government's Mediterranean coast.

U. S. Jews in Italy Under Duce Ban

ROME, Oct. 17 (INS)—The Italian government today formally notified the United States that Premier Mussolini's order expelling Jews from Italy will apply to American Jews as well as those of other nationalities.

The United States embassy, however, felt that a loophole had been left open and was inclined to view the Italian notification "favorably." Although Italy is adamant in its general attitude toward foreign Jews, it was felt Washington had been "given something to work on." Each case in question will be taken up individually by the embassy.

BERLIN, Oct. 17 (AP)—Only 175 Jewish attorneys will be permitted to practice in Germany after December 1, according to special decrees published today given effect to a general decree against Jewish lawyers last Saturday.

These 175, who will be permitted to practice "until further notice," may serve Jewish clients only. They were selected from 1000 Jews still practicing law in Germany.

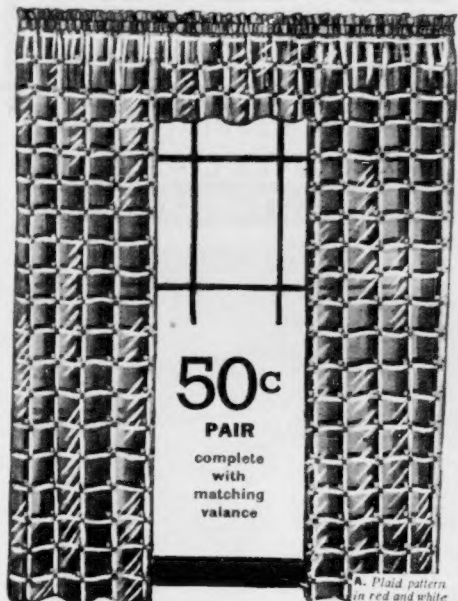

Endurance Fliers Ready to Descend

RICHMOND, Ind., Oct. 17 (INS)—Two weary Richmond aviators remained aloft today, although they had broken the unofficial world's endurance record of 196 hours for light aircraft.

The fliers, Russ Morris and Bob McDaniels, shattered the world

mark late yesterday afternoon, but continued in the air today in hopes of rolling up a total of 199 hours. Notes sent down to the ground crew this morning, however, indicated that excessive fatigue may shorten the flight.

5000 Told: 'Pay Tax or Lose Auto Plates'

The insurance division of the state registry of motor vehicles today began sending notices to more than 5000 motorists notifying them that if they did not pay their excise taxes for the current year within 30 days their registrations would be suspended.

These notices are being sent out under a new law which became effective last Friday.

Over the week-end lists were received from tax collectors of 20 towns containing the names and addresses of 3000 motorists to add to the 2100 names previously on file.

It is believed that a total of 15,000 names of tardy taxpayers will be received in all.

Worcester topped the list with 1300 delinquent motorists.

320 Million For War Planes

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Determined to maintain American invincibility in the air, the administration today planned to ask Congress for a huge appropriation that will raise the nation's commercial, civil and military aviation facilities to wartime strength.

As various federal agencies concerned with aeronautical activities prepared to consult with the budget bureau on next year's expenditures, an International News Service survey indicated close to $350,000,000 may be requested by President Roosevelt in his January budget estimate.

This figure may go higher after military aviation studies, outlined earlier this week by Mr. Roosevelt, are completed.

$275,000,000 IN AIR
In brief, the survey showed that for Army and Navy air programs, at least $275,000,000 will be demanded. This would be an increase of $75,000,000 over the present fiscal year.

For developing commercial aviation, the Civil Aeronautics Authority probably will require $25,000,000 or $10,000,000 more than this year.

Air mail payments to commercial airlines may jump to $35,000,000 annually after this year as compared with $26,000,000 currently provided.

An increase also is anticipated in Coast Guard aviation appropriations.

5320 WAR PLANES
On the military side, the Navy Department's program calls for the building of a naval air fleet of 3000 planes. It now has only 1868 planes, including some that are obsolete. The Army is authorized to bring up its air strength to 2320 planes by July, 1940.

In addition, the Navy soon expects to start construction of a dirigible for which it is permitted to spend $3,000,000.

Britain Opens New Drive to Crush Arabs

JERUSALEM, Oct. 17.—British troops deployed in positions throughout Palestine today as a preliminary to a huge drive to crush Arab resistance to Britain's rule in the Holy Land.

Some quarters feared the Arab rebellion was a threat to the peace of the whole Near East.

The new campaign against the Arabs was ordered yesterday immediately after the return from London of Sir Harold Alfred MacMichael, British high commissioner and commander-in-chief in Palestine.

Two Jews were killed and six wounded today in a fierce Arab rebel attack on a Jewish watchpost on the shores of Lake Ubeh.

Rifles cracked throughout the Holy Land last night. The old walled city of Jerusalem was virtually beleaguered. All gates except the Jaffa gate were closed after a 24-hour curfew was clamped down at 7 p. m. yesterday.

Kennedy Reports On Jewish Issue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (INS).—United States representations to Great Britain respecting Palestine immigration were disclosed today in a letter from Secretary of State Hull made public by Rep. Fish (R) of New York.

Hull told Fish that American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy had made inquiry at the British foreign office whether that government had made a final decision respecting Palestine.

Kennedy's message to the State Department quoted the British Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald that the government would reach no conclusions "before the House of Commons reassembled on Nov. 1." Hull's letter declared:

"I quite understand the concern expressed in your telegram with regard to Palestine, and you may be assured that we are giving our close attention to all phases of the situation with respect to that country."

"We have kept constantly before the British government the interest which the American people have in Palestine, and I have every reason to believe that that government is fully aware of public opinion on the matter in this country."

Graves 'Bribe' Story Quoted

settlement from the city in a water damage suit.

McCarthy's testimony was corroborated by Police Inspector Paul W. Crowley, who accompanied him on the trip to bring Graves back from Chicago, and who testified he was present and heard all Graves said to McCarthy on the plane.

WOMAN NOT CALLED

Immediately following Crowley's testimony, Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle rested the State's case.

Among State's witnesses not called was Mrs. Lillian Thomas of St. Louis, who, the State had said, would be called to testify concerning alleged confidences made to her by Graves while a guest in her home.

An adjournment was taken until 2 p. m.

Former Mayor Curley himself was on the stand, preceding McCarthy, today. He was asked:

"Mr. Curley, did you ever receive any part of the proceeds of that $55,000 settlement?"

"No," was his reply.

Q—Had you ever received any gratuities in connection with the settlement of that case? A—No.

McCarthy, when he was called to the stand, told of going to Chicago to bring Graves back to Boston. He went by plane, he stated, and found Graves at Chicago police headquarters. He stated he searched Graves' baggage in his room at the Ambassador Hotel and seized various papers and letters.

OBJECTION OVERRULED

It was on their way back to Boston by plane, McCarthy testified, that Graves confided in him.

"He said to me," McCarthy began, "I want to tell the truth."

Graves' attorney, Lafayette R. Chamberlain, at this point, objected.

"The man was under arrest and hadn't been warned of his rights," Chamberlain said.

"He doesn't have to be," Judge Williams said, overruling the objection.

"I thought the law was otherwise in this Commonwealth," said Chamberlain.

McCarthy continued:

"Graves said, 'I've been tossed around by Rand, Osborn and McClellan. I'm going to take care of Frederick Graves. What can you do for me?'"

"I said, 'I can't make any promises.'"

"Later on, in the plane, I said to Graves, 'The testimony you gave before the Boston Finance Commission and the testimony you gave before Judge Fossdick differ. Which statement is true?'"

"Graves said:

"My statement before Judge Fossdick was untrue, and the statement before the finance commission was true. Osborn and Rand prevailed on me to make an affidavit. They offered me $15,000."

"I asked, 'How much did they pay you?'"

"ACCUSED RAND?"

"Graves answered:

"I don't know until I get my papers. There is enough in these letters to dishar Stuart Rand."

"He further said—

"They have double-crossed me. I can tell how much they paid me when I get my papers."

"I said, 'Why did Osborn and Rand go to St. Louis to see you?'"

"Graves said:

"They told me Louis had brought suit against the Herald-Traveler and that they wanted to discredit him. They offered me $15,000."

At Boston police headquarters, however, McCarthy admitted, Graves refused to make a statement "because I couldn't promise him anything."

Cross-examination by Attorney Chamberlain, in part was as follows:

Q—You are a police captain?

A—Yes.

Q—Connected with what department? A—Commanding the homicide squad.

Q—Ordinarily a case like the Graves case would come under the heading of general investigation, wouldn't it? A—Yes, sir.

FIRST AIR EXTRADITION

Q—From whom did you receive instructions to go to Chicago?

A—From Superintendent Fallon.

Q—Isn't it unusual to bring prisoners back by plane? A—It was the first time I had ever done so.

Q—What was Graves' answer when you asked him to give you a stenographic statement? A—Graves answered "What are you going to do for me? I want to be taken care of." I told Graves "I can't promise anything. That is up to the court and the district attorney."

Q—How long have you known Mr. Curley? A—For some time.

Q—Were you brought up in the same ward he was? A—No.

Former Mayor Curley resumed the stand as the first witness of the day.

Curley, on the stand last week.

denied Graves' sworn testimony before Judge Fossdick that he met him in the Mayflower Hotel in Washington in November, 1933, and made the $40,000 "deal" there.

Today, Curley was asked:

"After you returned from Washington, did you talk with then Corporation Counsel Samuel Silverman regarding the case?"

"I did," Curley said.

Q—What was said? A—Silverman said the time was getting near for the settlement of the case, and that in the best interest of the city he advised me to come to an agreement. My reply was, "I don't believe they are entitled to a damn cent." Silverman then said, "I find by a jury trial will put us out of luck." I replied that they were "a crowd of crooks and entitled to nothing."

"SAVED CITY $50,000"

Q—Subsequent to that conversation, when did you learn the case had been settled? A—Three or four days later.

Q—Who told you? A—Silverman came to my office. I said to Silverman, "It was a hell of a crust to settle that case." Silverman said in reply, "I saved the city about $50,000."

Q—Mr. Curley, did you ever receive any part of the proceeds of that settlement? A—No.

Q—Had you ever received any gratuities in connection with the settlement of the case? A—No.

Q—When was the first time you heard about the case, regarding the alleged receiving of gratuities by certain city officials? A—In September of 1934. It was at the time I was a candidate for governor.

SILVERMAN TOOK BLAME

Q—Did Silverman say the responsibility for the settlement was his? A—Yes.

Q—What did he say? A—He said "I've done what I believe is for the best interests of the city, and it is my responsibility."

In cross-examination, Attorney Chamberlain asked Curley:

"Didn't you testify before Judge

Fossdick that the city had an even chance of winning?"

"Yes, I thought so up until the last visit of Silverman," Curley answered.

Q—Well, the conference in which the $55,000 was agreed to was on November 27, 1933, in the presence of Dr. Santosuosso? A—I didn't approve of it. That was the corporation counsel's responsibility.

Q—Did you have a conference on November 27 with Silverman and Santosuosso in which there was discussion of the settlement? A—I don't recall such a conference.

Q—May I call to your attention page 155 of the record of testimony before Judge Fossdick by Santosuosso, that he was in the mayor's office with Silverman and told the mayor that he and Silverman discussed the settlement? A—No. The doctor was in error.

Jewish 'Army' To Fight 'Isms'

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—An "army" of 1,000,000 Jewish men, women and children throughout the United States is being organized today to fight subversive influences. It is to be known as the American Jewish Federation to Combat Communism and Fascism.

National headquarters has been established in New York. The "father" of the idea is Dr. Herbert H. Lehman, of New York.

It was according to an announcement of the birth of the movement in the speech of Dr. Lehman at the Constitution Day that passed in the plans for the Jewish people unite their strength against the enemies of democracy. At that time the governor said:

"To me the world should be democracy by dictatorship is no real that I am convinced it is the duty of every citizen to devote his loyalties and his energies to arousing public sentiment in affirmative defense of democratic principles. And so I am to you, be not only against Fascism and Communism, but be for democracy with all the strength of your minds and bodies."

The organization of the federation was announced by Milton Sokol, former Kings county commander of the American Legion and past national commander of the Jewish War Veterans.

The movement was announced as the first of its kind in the United States having as a primary aim the destruction of the Communist virus. He added that the impression that has been given that a large percentage of the Communist are Jewish is a false one, and that the Jewish people, who have been the victims of their persecutions.

Members and supporters of the movement were urged to contact their local Jewish community centers, synagogues, and Jewish War Veterans chapters for further information.

"We will create a solid mass of Jewish public opinion opposed to doctrines of government contrary to the eternal principles of religious liberty and freedom of speech and press and the adoption of which would destroy Judaism and which aim equally to destroy the foundations of all religious beliefs," said Sokol.

Vanderbilt's Phone Line R. I. Political Issue

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 17 (AP)—A private telephone line from the Portsmouth home of William H. Vanderbilt, Republican gubernatorial candidate, to the state police barracks nearby, became an issue in the election campaign today.

Sparking it at a rally, Attorney General John P. Hartigan asked: "Why has Vanderbilt a private telephone line into that barracks? His money gives him no such privilege."

"It is about time that telephone line was called to the attention of the governor so it can be removed," he said.

Vanderbilt asked about the telephone confirmed Hartigan's statement that it has been installed, but said the installation was made at the request and suggestion of the state police.

Captain Jonathan Harwood of the state police agreed with Vanderbilt that the police had requested the installation.

"That telephone and other measures taken by the state police given back to the Lincoln kidnapping of 1923," the captain said.

"Arrangements were made for whistles or signals in case of kidnapping, but they were not found satisfactory."

"Some protection was given other families who were believed to be in danger of having their children kidnapped."

Vanderbilt has three children. When the age was that of Harwood's daughter, he said he was opposed to the installation.

"I know of no other person so protected," he said. "I am opposed to such special privileges."

Sharp his neighbors he was requested as a model youth.

One of the first to come to the boy's defense was Miss Margaret Delaney, eighth grade Wilma, ten Junior High School teacher, one of the last to reach Gary.

In reply to a request from Sheriff Bent for information about the boy and his background, Miss Delaney wrote a letter telling of the boy's quietness as exemplified in his work at school and his loyalty to his family.

"Gary was a very good student and a wonderful boy," she said. "He took care of his mother and his little brothers and sisters. He was just like a little father to his two-year-old sister and was so proud of her."

"He didn't run away actually. He went out into the world to earn a living not only for himself but for the other members of his family."

"Although he was brilliant enough to continue into high school and possibly college, Gary seemed to realize that his help was needed more at home and he thought that he could accomplish more if he went into the world."

The youths were arrested Friday night at the request of County Attorney Guy Henninger by railroad special agents at Biddeford, Me. Henninger is now in possession of Miss Delaney's letter to Bent.

Curley Claims Aides Quit Foe

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Republicans of liberal stripe are deserting Leverett Saltonstall to flock to his standard, ex-Governor James M. Curley declared in speeches in Boston and North Attleboro.

He charged that the Republicans in high command were disgusting their followers by trying to thrust their way aboard the Townsend Plan bandwagon.

Further, he accused the Republicans of trying to steal his labor record, and with being willing to trade principles for votes.

Saltonstall was expected to answer the allegations when he resumed campaigning today after a four-day layoff, due to illness.

RALLIES SET

He will address rallies at Newburyport, Amesbury and Gloucester.

Tomorrow he will visit Taunton, Attleboro and North Attleboro. Wednesday he addresses various groups in the city proper and Thursday he attends a meeting of the Republican Finance Committee in the Hotel Continental, Cambridge.

Curley said, in his attacks.

"The new Republicanism which Saltonstall is espousing, but with which he has not an iota of sympathy, has become repulsive to Republicans who are really liberal."

"Saltonstall has been forced by my stand to impersonate a Republican of the most advanced type. But the one insurmountable obstacle to this strategy is his record as a legislator."

"BLACK RECORD"

"It is a black record, as it affects service men working men and women. It is a record of almost complete opposition to measures designed to benefit labor."

Curley and the rest of the Democratic ticket are scheduled for rallies tonight at Danvers, Gardner, Leominster, Uxbridge and Winchendon as the start of a weeks' tour that will include a swing through the western part of the state.

Duane, Democrat, Backs Saltonstall

A rousing endorsement of Leverett Saltonstall issued by Duane.

Patrick J. Duane of Waltham (D) in Democrat was causing considerable consternation in Democratic ranks today.

Leading the Republican candidate as the descendant of a long line of liberals, and defender of religious freedom, he denounced James M. Curley and rebuffed his platform. He said:

"Economy in government is one of Curley's pledges. In his former administration as governor, was noted for extravagance."

"He made a frontal attack upon our system of government. He would have had biennial sessions of the Legislature, with membership cut in half, and would have abolished the Governor's Council."

"Give him that type of government and he would utilize the Commonwealth."

It Ain't True, Mr. Prinz!

New England Girls ARE Beautiful!

Is it the "New England conscience" that keeps Boston girls from Hollywood? Or aren't there just any good-looking girls in New England?

That's what Leroy Prinz, Hollywood fame director and international dancer, authority on feminine beauty, is asking himself and the world at large.

Prinz recently directed three pictures in which there were a host of beauties. But none from New England. Not a single one from the whole cap.

And Prinz, who has made his name as a Hollywood director, is a Boston Evening American reporter and out to find out if there are any girls around here who are really beautiful.

He found the girls, and he found them very nice. And he found them just not interested.

There was beautiful Ida Linquist of Sharon, with all the girl's qualities and more. But Hollywood? No.

"It doesn't sound so glamorous to me," she said. "Up at six, making long hours, chorus practice, and what have you."

Joan Gordon, daughter of Ben in street "breaktime" said: "New England conscience? I never heard of it. Hollywood just sounds like too much work."

Madeline Austin, of Canton street, Boston, was so.

"What does Mr. Prinz mean hinting that maybe there are no pretty girls around here? Why, Boston girls carry a note of distinction that no other section of the country has."

Sister-in-law Mary Dalton said:

The law of distribution, he was of the law of probability, would suggest the "New England" having a proportion of "beauties" as "them, Mr. Prinz."

Chinese Check Japs' Drive to Take Canton

HONGKONG, Oct. 17 (AP).—The Japanese army announced tonight it had surrounded the Canton-Kowloon railway at several points. The reports from across further south indicated that the rapid Japanese drive toward Canton was meeting its first serious organized Chinese resistance.

Severe fighting was reported from Wengcheng, about 40 miles east of Canton, a point reported to be the first major battle to decide the fate of the South China metropolis and the vital supply lines radiating from it.

The Japanese communicate an intention of cutting off the Canton-Kowloon T.S. main—chief link between the British colony of Hong Kong and Canton, did not name the points affected, but these were believed to be between Hong Kong and Canton, and between Canton and the coast.

After driving 45 miles inland from the coast, the Japanese pushed the Japanese column, advancing toward Canton, the city was surrounded, pushing north Wengcheng. And by some 10,000 Chinese troops equipped with tank guns, heavy artillery and machine guns.

Before morning this morning the Japanese column had made what military observers considered a serious progress.

One of the forces which cut the Canton-Kowloon railway was reported to have been ordered to the Tsoi-fung road to the west of the line.

Other forces crossed the East river into the captured of Wengcheng and fought their way up the Wengcheng highway to within 20 miles of Canton.

Canton was passed under martial law.

Japs Close In On Chinese Capital

SHANGHAI, Oct. 17 (AP).—Japs reported tonight that they had passed the second secondary defense of Hsiao-shan and were closing in on the provincial capital from three directions.

They said the occupation of Hsiao-shan, 15 miles by air from Hsiao-shan, was in fact the Chinese meeting a determined stand despite a combined land and air attack.

Hsiao-shan is just the south bank of the Yangtze river just to the west of Shanghai captured yesterday.

Japanese said the forces were now within a few miles of Shanghai, with a tank column due in progress.

Plan Schedule For King's Visit

It said the tentative program included a visit to White House and a visit to the United States, with a state dinner at the White House. A state dinner at the White House and a state dinner at the White House and a state dinner at the White House.

INJURIES FATAL TO CAMBRIDGE MAN

Injured in a fall at his home on 10, Burns St., died at Cambridge Hospital. Cambridge Albert (City Hump)

A Message of Appreciation

With the work of rehabilitating our distribution system completed, with all services, including street lighting, back to normal, the Boston Edison Company takes the opportunity to express a final word of appreciation to its public, which has co-operated so splendidly in the emergency occasioned by the destructive hurricane of September 21, 1938.

We are under a heavy obligation to our employees who worked so hard and conscientiously to speed the restoration of service, to the state and municipal officials who helped us, to utility companies in distant cities which placed their facilities at our disposal, to the electrical and other contractors of Greater Boston who worked with our own crews, to manufacturers and jobbers who gathered enormous quantities of materials in record time. But even with all this assistance we could not have succeeded but for the kindness, the patience, the tolerance and the understanding of our 437,000 customers, most of whom were without electric service for short or longer periods following the hurricane.

As evidence of the magnitude of the job we had to do, we present a few statistics. On September 20, the day before the hurricane, Boston Edison Company was supplying service to 437,000 customers. Between 8 o'clock and midnight on the night of the hurricane 292,000 customers were without electric service. Our immediate policy was to give first attention to hospitals, institutions, and agencies for public health and safety, then to take steps which would restore the services of the largest number of customers in the shortest time. The following table shows how effectively this was done:

Date (8 P.M.)	Number of Customers Without Service	Per Cent Customers Without Service
Sept. 21	292,000	66.70
22	172,800	39.43
23	126,000	28.80
24	93,800	21.45
25	73,200	16.73
26	55,700	12.73
27	39,500	9.03
28	26,300	6.01
29	16,100	3.63
30	8,790	2.01
Oct. 1	4,390	1.01
2	2,691	0.61
3	1,318	0.30
4	660	0.15
5	387	0.09
6	150*	0.00*

*The average number of customers whose service is interrupted on a normal night, due to fuse troubles or minor disturbance, is 150.

The only other major interruption to Edison service followed the sleet storm of 1921, which was approximately 25 per cent as extensive as the hurricane. In 1921 the work of rehabilitation was not completed for more than a month. This time a job four times as arduous was done in half the time.

Another picture of the magnitude of the task may be obtained from these statistics on the men and materials used to meet the emergency:

MEN. Normally the Boston Edison Company maintains line crews totaling 253 men. A week after the hurricane, when there had been time to recruit forces from outside New England, our field forces numbered 1185 Edison workers, and 698 from outside. In addition clerks, salesmen, engineers, and others, numbering approximately 2,000, were backing up the field forces procuring supplies.

CREWS. Normally the Boston Edison Company maintains 50 line crews. In this emergency we had 109 line crews, 13 expert tree crews, 54 survey and labor crews engaged in tree clearing, and 89 crews supplied by electrical contractors, a total of 265 crews. The division of overhead lines normally uses 30 passenger cars and 74 trucks. At the peak of the emergency there were 334 passenger cars and 396 trucks in use.

MATERIALS. In the work of rehabilitation we used 713 miles of copper wire, which would have filled 22 freight cars. We had to replace 1350 poles, which laid end to end would reach 9½ miles. On these poles we had to place 3,597 cross-arms and 198,000 mechanical splicers and connectors. We installed 194 pole transformers. We used 38,000 pole and house insulators, 120,000 yards of friction tape, weighing 3½ tons, 31,250 separate pieces of pole line hardware, 11 tons of manila rope, 360 axes, 350 saws, 1,044 hack saw blades, 520 knives, 166 ladders, 340 shovels, 590 pairs of pliers, and 3,918 pairs of gloves.

The cost of all this has not yet been finally determined. Our estimate is that the hurricane will cost the Boston Edison Company $1,000,000, including loss of revenue. We hope that this will be offset in months to come by an even greater appreciation on the part of the customers of the value of our service. The substitutes used for lights during the nights of darkness, and for electrical appliances during the days without power, have undoubtedly convinced our customers that electricity is the most inexpensive of all necessities in the home of the 20th century.

DISARM HIM!

The Editor Says:—Bombing civilian populations from the air is NOT war. It is EVIL FOR EVIL'S SAKE. It is the most diabolical practice to which the human race has ever descended.

When the greatest mass-fear of any time recently held hundreds of millions of Europeans in its terrible grip it was NOT war, in the orthodox sense, that inspired it.

It was the fear of sudden death by demons hidden in clouds or in the dark of the night.

The recent peace agreement at Munich leads us to believe that the time is now ripe for a world conference of the leading nations to take up the idea urged, in the name of a fear-stricken humanity, last winter by William Randolph Hearst to prevent forever a repetition of the heart-breaking massacres of Nanking, Shanghai, Canton, Barcelona and Madrid.

Mr. Hearst urged that President Roosevelt call such a conference.

The President's messages to Hitler, Benito and Mussolini were a powerful aid in bringing the war-like nations of Europe to their senses.

It would be a memorable act if he were to follow that up by inviting the powers to take a step further and outlaw the bombing and gassing of civilian populations, in the manner suggested by Mr. Hearst.

Fighting man to man on terra firma is war. Bombing women and children from the air is NOT war. IT IS DEVILRY.

Are we still men or nameless beasts? Let us have a PARLIAMENT OF HUMANITY to outlaw the airbombs and poison gas.

MOTORISTS, in record-breaking numbers, are rushing to offices of tax collectors throughout Massachusetts. There is a frantic eagerness to pay long overdue bills.

The reason is obvious: the new law that deals harshly with tax evaders and persons who register automobiles from false addresses is now effective.

Nobody likes to pay taxes, and the average autoist is not an exception. Generally he feels that he bears more than his just share of the government burden. Gasoline levies, compulsory insurance and a dozen other assessments weigh heavily upon him. Nevertheless, little sympathy will be wasted on these delinquents.

Particularly interesting is Registrar Goodwin's complaint that numerous Bostonians have been registering their machines from fictitious addresses, even from cemeteries.

Were such a motorist involved in an accident it might be hard to locate him in a graveyard. As our hit-run mishaps indicate, the other driver or the pedestrian is the one who usually gets there.

MODERN GIRLS do not drop handkerchiefs to attract a gentleman's attention, nor do they resort to a "discreetly flirtatious glance."

In other words, according to a consensus of opinion among young women attending major universities, the favored "get your man" recipes of the Victorian Age are as out of date as horse cars.

Today, also according to the young women's views, the best place to meet "interesting and presentable" men is on the dance floor, where masculine leadership still prevails and girls obligingly follow.

If that is true—and it undoubtedly is—many enduring friendships ought to be formed on October 24, when more than fifteen thousand Bostonians and New Englanders go to Boston Garden to enjoy the music of the bands of Benny Goodman and Rudy Vallee playing for the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser Christmas Basket Fund.

Goofy Ideas
Still Lure

By EDWIN C. HILL

IT WOULD BE interesting if we had instruments of precision which would chart high and low pressure areas and trends of thought and opinion as to the weathermen, checking the wind which bloweth where it listeth. This might happen some day. There is a curious consonance in what might appear to be the erratic drafts and tendencies in the public mind.

For instance. We have a rash of Townsendites all over the country by which we propose to abolish economic laws by lifting ourselves by our suspenders. And along with it, right in step, doing a brother act, comes that lurid old phantom perpetual motion, bubbling up again in a half dozen States.

In New York the attorney-general finds it necessary to forbid further sale of stock in a machine contrived by Charles E. Hammond, a former sailor with $27,000 of the certificates already sold and paid for.

The perpetual motion people and they are long-lived and legion, would do to the laws of physics what the $90 Thursday people would do to the laws of commerce. The process involves wealth in one case and energy in the other. Each would take something out where he had put nothing on.

ANY NEWSPAPER MAN of considerable experience has been assigned at times to report on the perpetual motion people at the dinner gate. New generations of them keep awarning through the years, like old Dr. Morgan's vinegar flies, a strangely persistent breed.

A friend of mine, an old timer on one of the local city docks, tells me about a brisk little man who bargined him for years with rows of his all-iron dirigible powered by a perpetual motion.

The little man got thinner and thinner and shabbier and shabbier, but always hopeful and always just one jump behind a million dollars, as the years went by. He was missing for a year or two but came back one day, all dressed up and bubbling with happiness. He had won! His first ship had been built, had performed beautifully in the air, and was to start immediately on a cross-country mail-carrying flight!

Then his face clouded. There was still one little difficulty to be overcome. His voice sank to a whisper. Over small crowds he had let the mail down on a rising breeze but for one stormy day which had been blowing him for years, had learned about his invention and they had cornered all the string.

THIS SAD little story interested me as lighting up the overlapping zones of goofiness. Fantastic economic ideas frequently go with similarly preposterous ideas about the physical universe.

About 25 years ago there was a Socialist messiah in California, a forerunner of many later millennial fanatics there, who dabbled in Utopian economics and engineering. He was sharing in the millennium with a magical command of new energies and new processes in engineering and metallurgy. He dabbled mostly in the small and scientific fields of his system.

It always happens. If Townsend comes perpetual motion can't be far behind and probably another of those recurrent wars between the red squirrels and the gray squirrels. The red squirrels of brain doctors will work all this out in time. We'll get them warnings.

The Brighter Side

Hollywood Always Puts Actor Above Play

By DAMON RUNYON

WE SAW SOMETHING the other night that we had usually read about but never quite believed. A theater audience stood up and cheered an actor at the conclusion of a first night performance.

The actor they were cheering was an English chap named Robert Morley, bearded and bearded and seemed greatly pleased. The play was something called "Dear Wilde" and while we thought the producers had little enough to do to put it on in the first place we had to admit that the stardom of this Morley chap made it a theatrical success.

However, the theme of the play we were talking about has nothing to do with Robert Morley's acting ability. He is a good actor.

MORLEY will remain a good actor until they get him back in the movies and he commences to play Robert Morley instead of the characters assigned to him, which is what eventually happens to most of those good stage actors like Charles Laughton and Paul Muni and all the rest.

Right now as we note from his interviews in the public prints, Morley says that the play is the thing, which of course it is.

However, after an actor has been in-Hollywood awhile he gets the idea that the actor is the thing.

Many a swell stage actor has gone to Hollywood and suddenly submerged his powers of presentation of character in his own identity and personality. After a while he plays every character exactly alike and the character is always himself.

There are many actors who are actors in Hollywood, many who are not. I think it is a pity that we forget who our actors are and believe in the character they are playing, which is what a great actor should do.

We are not blaming the actors. There is a tough road.

Of course, to Morley and every one out of Hollywood that is, not as the direct product thereof, because the system of theaters that makes the actor the thing instead of the play has not passed the making of Morley. As an instance of what we mean, take Tyrone Power, a young actor who had some stage experience but who is more of the Hollywood school.

POWER is a personable young man of some talent but no matter what character he plays he is rarely permitted to grow any other with the passing of the years. A depicted in the picture story, as what chance has he got of developing character studies?

However, it is only fair to the picture makers to say that when in an occasional burst of artistic fervor they make a good picture without any Marquee names it does not draw a line so perhaps the play is the thing only when you have got box office magnets to play it.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

WHAT WE like about the American Legion parades are lady drum-majors with figures like a couple of eights.

THEY COME stepping down the boulevard on their toes like the town was paved with fresh eggs.

THEY ARE as pretty as flowers in the rain as dental floss.

WE SUSPECT the soprano drum-majors are there in front because of their rotogravure value. See how she nods like a proud horse. Watch her toss that musical walking-stick in the air. And catch it on the second bounce. She's slicker than slippery elm.

THE LADY drum-major is a good idea. An old soldier can walk further and faster when he's following a pretty girl.

THERE'S SOMETHING about a drumette prancing about the boulevard that makes you glad that you're an American.

AND IT'S the Legion that thought of it. That's Miss United States out there in front prancing like a waiting mouse, obliging on the right diagonal and pivoting like a loose tooth.

"HARD-BOILED EDITORS" DISCUSS COLLEGIATE CONTRIBUTIONS
Mildred Kharfen, Eva Antonson and Ed Connelly are campus publishers

Girl About Town

by Mary X. Sullivan

A GROUP of New England students have founded a "different" college magazine, which is doing very nicely, thank you.

"The Collegiate Review" is its name. It is not an intramural journal, like most student publications. In the contrary, it is run on a professional commercial line, pays for contributions and maintains a high literary standard.

Started a year ago as a quarterly with a circulation limited to New England schools, the magazine found such favor with students that it is now a monthly and is being sold on campuses all over the country.

All of the articles with the exception of an occasional piece by some eminent person, are the work of college youth. Charles O. Foster of Harvard heads the department of contemporary thought. Mildred Kharfen of Simmons, the able Eva Antonson of the B. U. Graduate School of School of Art does covers and illustrations, when latter include some excellent cartoons.

The significance of this magazine's success lies in the fact that it is far from the "college humor" type of thing that represented casual campus reading a decade ago. It is serious and thoughtful and not smart-aleck.

Its editors feel that it is a cross-section of the most active part of student opinion, and that gives the college a more adequate a better understanding of its thought in western schools—and vice versa.

"The Collegiate Review" is its motto: "The review and the clean humor" is its motto.

WE HEARD an appealing story about Paul Verit, a student author of "Shadow and Substance" which opens here tonight. The Irish playwright who had earned seven pounds, or about $10 a week, before his play became a hit was bewildered but philosophical about his sudden wealth. In New York he was greatly impressed with the excellent dollar books published in America and bought 300 at once, on the theory that a hit can happen to money, but books are forever.

WITH a much local interest in the fishermen's race between the Gertrude Thibault and the Fishermen, wonder how many local stamp collectors realize that the Canadian schooner is ill-fated in a stamp? It is a dark blue 50-cent one issued in 1928-29, in recognition of the victory of the Bluenose in the International Fishermen's race. If the Thibault should win, with Jim Farley fellow suit!

CALENDAR OF A GOTHAMITE: Mixed reviews of the long-anticipated Hart-Kaufman opera, "The Fabulous Invalid" but the usually acerbic John Anderson insists it is the show of shows—and that its curtain flies like a gallant banner at the masthead of a battle-scarred art. Mr. Anderson rarely delivers half-measures in his enthusiasm or his dislikes.

ONE READER, referring to the request of a Safford, Atty. woman for suggestions as to what to inspect while she was in New York, approves the advice to include a visit to the Chrysler Building or Empire State Tower for there, she insists, the visitor "will be looking down on the representatives and the remnants of all the empires of the world. She will be able to see them—the overflow and the backwash, the fore-runners and the front-runners, the energetic entrepreneurs and the erratic escapists, the brawny, smelly worker and the puny perfumed shaker who have come helter-skelter to Manhattan from a tired old world crippled by the fixation of classes and made dizzy by the whirling of pretty prejudices, brutal bigotry and cruel conflict."

HY GARDNER, who conducts almost two dozen columns a week for as many varied publications is now authoring crisply humorous comments on current events which are flushed weekly in a number of newsreel theatres throughout the country. The self-styled Hob Reid, mild-mannered and erudite, is again the constant Manhattan companion of the chronically aloof Greta Garbo... From the Keeley Institute of Insight, Ill., comes a communication of hope, a promise to cure you of smoking... But why should I abandon a habit which I have built up with great care over several decades until my fingertips are now the beautiful shade of a well-nourished meerschaum.

NO VOICE so resonantly bass and manly as that of Orson Welles over the air-waves... From Father Patrick McCarthy of the Friars of Ateneum, a St. Christopher's medal arrives to protect me in the high roads.

THE THINNISH, erratic Sid Solomon, a profane devotee of the happier depression era, is back as usual again of the Central Park Casino no longer seated in its placid knoll in the park but many blocks distant on East 57th street. The Casino of the other day was the assembly hall of Manhattan's haut monde and it was really there that I first learned it was quite improper to wear tan brogans with the dinner jacket.

Here it was that I saw young Charles Lindbergh for the first time face-to-face and he looked as if he felt quite out of place among the swells. Soberly a night that the place wasn't cluttered up with Vanderbilts and Astors and Goretts and Stewarts, to say nothing of princes and princesses and occasionally a few lords and ladies.

Cook Vegetables In Different Manner

FROM MARTHA LEE'S MON-DAY BROADCAST OVER STA-
TION WHEA-11:30 A. M.

A lady stopped in the other day to tell us that she had been trying to keep one of our vegetable recipes for 1934 throughout the year. She added that we had fallen down on our part of the bargain immensely. What would we do, we asked, that we would cook some vegetables in an entirely new and different manner each week. That shouldn't be so difficult, but perhaps we've been a little short on the subject. Here we do again, and we offer a few ideas for the vegetables to day.

BEEETS WITH MINT SAUCE

1 tablespoon powdered sugar.
2 cups water.
2 cups sliced beets.
Dissolve sugar in vinegar, bring to a brisk boil and pour over mint. Soak beets in water for 1 hour and pour in the mint sauce prepared as directed above.

CRISP CROQUETTES

1 cup milk.
1/2 cup butter.
1/2 cup flour.
1/2 cup salt.
1/2 cup onion.
1/2 cup carrot.
1/2 cup celery.
1/2 cup parsley.
1/2 cup dill.
1/2 cup chives.
1/2 cup basil.
1/2 cup oregano.
1/2 cup thyme.
1/2 cup rosemary.
1/2 cup sage.
1/2 cup marjoram.
1/2 cup lavender.
1/2 cup lemon balm.
1/2 cup mint.
1/2 cup basil.
1/2 cup oregano.
1/2 cup thyme.
1/2 cup rosemary.
1/2 cup sage.
1/2 cup marjoram.
1/2 cup lavender.
1/2 cup lemon balm.
1/2 cup mint.

Place the carrots in a deep covered saucepan and cook in the water. Cover closely and cook until tender. Add hot water from time to time if there is danger of burning. When done add the butter and the nutmeg. Garnish liberally with paprika.

HOT BUTTERED SWEET POTATO CROQUETTES

1 cup sweet potatoes.
1/2 cup butter.
1/2 cup flour.
1/2 cup salt.
1/2 cup onion.
1/2 cup carrot.
1/2 cup celery.
1/2 cup parsley.
1/2 cup dill.
1/2 cup chives.
1/2 cup basil.
1/2 cup oregano.
1/2 cup thyme.
1/2 cup rosemary.
1/2 cup sage.
1/2 cup marjoram.
1/2 cup lavender.
1/2 cup lemon balm.
1/2 cup mint.

Put the sweet potatoes in a small amount of water and salt to taste. Cook them until they are soft. Mash them and form into individual flat cakes as many as needed. In the center of each, place a firm lump of butter. Sprinkle surface generously with nutmeg. Roll the edges of the cake over forming cake into croquette without disturbing the butter. Dip each croquette into crushed corn flakes and fry in deep fat. It crispens when laid soft for fried place in automatic refrigerator. When fried, when cooked to a deep brown they will still retain the butter in the center, unmelting but soft.

MASHED TURNIP OR SQUASH

Try adding a little honey with the milk powder and butter when mashing. One of these vegetable soups is particularly good with mashed yellow turnip.

SHOULD YOU insist on being demure this season... should you insist that it's youth you're after and not a corseted elegance, in spite of everyone's awning that it's time fashion and you grew up... here's a hat that'll do your heart and principles much good. It's Lilly Dache's black felt with a slight bonnet impression. The back is cut out and snugly fits the head with an adjustable band. He's the Good Friend Type

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My parents are the kind that think the first boy who goes with a girl is the one she must marry. I'm 17 years old and will be a senior in high school in the fall. I have been going with a boy for four months, not exactly on the sly, but almost. My mother knows I go out with him occasionally, but as much as I've gone with this boy, he has never tried to kiss me. I really admire him very much for this.

Although I am very fond of him I never intend to marry him because he isn't the type of husband I want. The other evening when I went out with him, I told him we would have to stop seeing each other because we were children. On the way home from the date with him, he asked me if he could kiss me before we parted, and I consented. Later, when we got home, I asked him to kiss me good-night and was immensely sorry I thing he must despise me for it, and I feel as though I shall never be able to face him.

MARIANNE.

I don't believe that boy will find it very hard to forgive you for asking for a good-night kiss, my dear. And I shouldn't be too rigid about not seeing him occasionally. Granted he isn't the type you wish to marry, he may be the type of which good friends are made.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL Have Fingernails Like Brilliant Amethysts

By AIRLINE GOULD

YOU MAY not be able to afford Siberian amethysts for your long, white fingers... but you can lacquer each nail until it looks like an individual amethyst... and you may have the color range from palest amethystine to deep, royal purple.

There's a new "jewel-tone" nail lacquer... famed all over the land for its high gloss and imperishability... that's arrived in a trio of variations on the color bit of the season.

The polishes are numbered. "1" is light, delicate; "2" is medium, more intense; "3" is dark and dazzling.

Like the real jewels themselves... like pearls or emeralds, white sapphires or black diamonds or moonstones... each tone makes the hands appear softer, lovelier and more fragile.

Wear it to add sparkle to the simplest fall frock, with which it will make the perfect contrast.

Chime in with any party you wear, or with a new make-up or model or naive cast.

Take it on the word of a fashion or undoubtedly nail lacquer... you may find others equally glowing in color, or excitingly toned with iridescence or luminous... you may find some cheaper... but you'll never find a polish that will resist chipping and cracking any more than this does. Famous manicuring salons throughout the country swear by it.

To learn more about these new amethyst "jewel tones" in a long-lasting, inexpensive nail lacquer, phone Airline Gould, Liberty 4000, week-days until five or write her at the Boston American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Good Manners

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1-What does one wear to a church wedding at 3:30 in the afternoon?

2-And does one send a gift?

ANNA.

1-Wear your best-looking day dress with a coat or a suit. The skirt should be at least length. Choose very carefully your hat, gloves and other accessories, so that they combine into a effective ensemble.

2 You send a gift if you wish to, and if you are a friend of the couple, or of either one, you will undoubtedly wish to send some gift for the new home. The gift should be sent to the bride to be.

Gala Stage Fare On Rialto this Week

Two new shows and two Broadway hits—three opening tonight and one tomorrow night—should thoroughly regale Boston's Rialto this week.

The new Vinton Freedley musical, "Leave It To Me," opening at the Shubert tonight, has Cole Porter songs, a book by Bella and Sam Spewack and a cast headed by William Gaxton and Victor Moore. Here is top talent and the first-night audience is expecting great things from this winning combination.

Other reasons why "Leave It To Me" should click are the presence in the cast of Sophie Tucker, "Last of the Red Hot Mamas" and lovely Tamara, who sang "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" so that it will always be her song.

"Shadow and Substance," the New York Critics Award play written by Irish Paul Vincent Carroll while he was teaching school in Scotland, has its opening tonight at the Wilbur Theater.

This play is the first to receive the double accolade of being selected by the New York critics as the finest play to be brought to America last season, and containing the most distinguished performance, that of Sir Cedric Hardwicke, for which he received the Drama League Medal.

Third of tonight's openings is the Group Theater's "Golden Boy" at the Plymouth, with Frances Farmer, Luther Adler and Morris Carnovsky in the featured roles. It is a three-week engagement.

This is the Clifford Odets play, which brought the playright back to Broadway after a $25,000-a-week interlude in Hollywood. It fared very well in New York, Chicago, and London and Odets probably has no regrets for the flesh-pots of screenland.

Incidentally the "Golden Boy" company and the Group Theater staff are having little time off from work this week. Last night immediately after their arrival the entire company assembled with Executive Harold Clurman, Author Odets and the Group staff in the Hotel Touraine for the first complete reading of Clifford Odets' new play, "Rocket to the Moon," clear to open next month at New York's Belasco Theater.

Several of the "Golden Boy" company, Adler and Carnovsky will be rehearsing the new play all this week before returning to New York for the more intense preparation work.

There is much interest in Ina Claire's flashback into the American Revolutionary period tomorrow night at the Colonial. The play is "Rocket to the Moon," by Lewis Meltzer and is being presented by New York's enterprising producer, Cheryl Crawford, who is new to Boston.

Yankee Fable is said to be so successful enough to be three weeks running at the Wilbur. The play is a sequel of a belle of that day, as was nothing to be desired, they all say.

Jessie Williams last seen here in "Call It a Day" will play "The Important Man" in the play that long, formerly tagged "General's Sweet Bed."

Cheryl L. Prentiss, famous "Venus" director is staging this play.

SIR CEDRIC HARDWICKE as the austere Canon Skeritt and Julie Haydon as the servant Brigid in Paul Vincent Carroll's play, "Shadow and Substance," opening tonight at the Wilbur.

Singing Doyle Wonders Why He Is in a Cell

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (INS).—Why Jack Doyle, whom fighters call a "corner man" singer, still a fighter, was in and here today at the highest of the highest officials was a big mistake to the Irish Luthers.

Doyle, in Los Angeles, said officials in New York and Washington haven't shed any light on the uncomfortable predicament of the "Irish Throat."

Doyle, a singer, said he was arrested from the "Irish Throat" was taken from New York to Los Angeles, where he is now in a cell in the United States.

"I can't understand this at all," moaned Doyle. "I know of no wrongdoing. I am in this country to spend money. I am a man of means."

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP).—Doyle, a singer, said he was arrested from the "Irish Throat" was taken from New York to Los Angeles, where he is now in a cell in the United States.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

Monday Morning Musings:

For a real coincidence, we give you one of Harvard's football records to date . . . All three of the Crimson's early season opponents have won by the score of 20 points . . . To pun feebly, a score in scores . . .

George Holland

And Austen Lake, who tangled with a writer named John R. Tunis, and in crossing typewriters with him questioned his status as a sports authority, will be interested in scanning Page 190 of Esquire this month . . . Tunis "experts" for that magazine . . . In an article called "College Praise Men," Tunis refers to "Brad" Holland, the Cornell all-American end as "Brad" Holland . . . Then he writes: " . . . among the stars at Boston College are Jivellian, Gintoff and Showtzer" . . . He got Gintoff right.

There's a local angle or two to the newest "ringer" case of the horse-racing business . . . While the Maryland Racing Commission is investigating the melodramatic story of an alleged "ringer," a horse named "James A." the entries of two owners have been refused at Narragansett . . . "James A." was second in a cheap claiming race at Stockingham last year . . . Then he showed unexpected class in Florida and later, on a bet at Waukegan, Ill., he added a classy field which included "Sun Bazel" . . . This race aroused suspicion, but the probe centered on the neighboring state of Maryland, where there is more racing.

This coincidence, however, is not the reason why this is a day of two firsts for me, which is to suggest to the Maryland racing commission that they should not be too hasty in rejecting "James A." This class horse, who is a supposed "ringer," is of night . . . He lost twice, while his owner said he held the horse . . . I don't know, but I hope the owner will be able to tell him . . .

And although this has nothing to do with the strange success story of "James A." nor with the mysterious disappearance of "Reval Rank," whatever happened to "California Girl?" . . . This maiden fully was backed down by the weight of a ton of money "getaway day" at Suffolk . . . She ran second spoiling a huge coup . . . Hide nor hair of the animal has not been sighted by professional clochers since . . .

More Musings:

One of the reforms introduced at our recently that George M. Cohan began by being named as a former representative . . . After that the street-fighting parliament for a long time ago, his just returned from London, where she studied George M. Cohan's play, "The Boy in the Wood" . . .

When he was approximately 11 years old, his sister, Josephine and three other stage-children were appearing in a turn supervised by George's father, Jess . . . Josephine and her father thought the act would be better as a quartette, and under threat of a strapping, young George was made to don a blonde wig and a dress . . .

It was then that he took up chewing tobacco, a habit which lasted very few breaths . . . To impress the stage-hands with his young American manhood, George chewed tobacco all over the place . . . and volcanned the juice, he told Miss Ford, "lefty," or from the left side of his mouth . . .

Miss Ford wouldn't be sure, but she ventures a guess that the characteristic Cohan trait of curling his left upper lip and talking from the side of his mouth started then . . .

Once Over Lightly:

Jacques Renard, who begins his third week at the Cockeyed Cafe tonight, has a new trick. As the Hudson . . . Renard says this is a 13 time revival . . . The Melba will stage a television show to run day and date with the remarkable show which opens November 12 at Melba's Building . . . The television show will occupy the 1st floor of the Melba's Building while the radio show is taking place downstairs . . .

Clide Trane, who played for the second time he closes his engagement at the Sherry, is back from television right . . .

Ex-Mate Shot First, Says Ruth

forced Alderman to drive him from a radio station to the Ebbetts hillside home where, in the music room, an "instrument" in about three minutes of the household . . . Alderman told police he went there "to discuss arrangements for some Beverly Hills property with my former wife . . ."

That Smolder shot Oswald Alderman from a distance of 12 feet as the music arranger sat near Miss Ebbetts on the piano . . . Alderman was struck once in the abdomen . . .

TOOK PISTOL AWAY

That Smolder wrested Miss Ebbetts' pistol from her grasp . . . Miss Smolder tossed it up and fired at him as he crossed the singer to the kitchen . . . He was not wounded . . . Police said they are investigating Smolder's record in New York and Washington . . . information that he may be wanted for racketeering activities in the East, where he is said to be a boss . . .

Miss Ebbetts said her entire career from the time she left a David O. Selznick farm to her job as an actress in 1936 . . . has been unblemished . . .

"The day when Earl and I were married have been the happiest in my life," she declared . . .

29 HELD IN RAID

Twenty-nine men will be in the chaser court today on charges of being present when gaming implements were found . . . They were arrested early Sunday in a raid on a treatment clubroom in Morris street Mattapan . . .

Fatal Mistake

VIDALIA, Ga., Oct. 17 (AP)—Sherred Phillips awakened this morning to hear what he thought was a burglar . . . He fired one shot from a pistol and turned on the light . . . His wife lay dead with a bullet wound near her heart . . .

Harvard Loses Another Game From Midfield

EVEN A PLACID, WELL-REGULATED GENT like Harvard's Dick Harlow has his emotional limits. So, if he comes down with the creeping-hobgoblins before this autumn is ended it will result from the exasperated churning of his soul. For three successive Saturdays Harlow has alternated between a glow and gooseflesh as his kids did miracles on their own goal-line, but came apart in midfield. Harvard owns the copyright on losing games from the middle of the field.

AUSTEN LAKE

This is nothing a coach can cure. There are no cancerous portions to cut away, no bone or skin grafts to perform and no transfusions of crimson corpuscles from the bench or junior varsity. This requires self-cure by the patient. For Harvard's ailment has been a pernicious case of the galloping flutters, which have occurred regularly, three times a game. It is an involuntary form of muscular twitch and all Harlow can do is huddle in his great coat, shudder apprehensively and resort to prayer.

So the underlying touchdown record against Harvard this fall reads like a fever chart. Brown, Cornell and Army have divided nine touchdowns equally amongst themselves, eight on runs which varied in length from a short mashie distance to a full brassie shot. The shortest, from 27 yards, and the longest, from 82 yards, were made by Army's Arthur Frontczak Saturday.

Consider this as a rare hunk of swineskin curiosa: Brown's 82 yards resulted from 1. Harlow's two-yard fumble, 2. O'Leary's interception and lateral, when M. Leary carried 75 yards, 3. Nassau's 50-yard run from scrimmage.

Others were: 1. Baker's 74-yard dash from scrimmage, 2. Brooks' 50-yard puntback of a punt, 3. McCallough's interception on a punt for 50 yards.

Others were: 1. Frontczak's 27-yard dash off tackle, 2. Frontczak's 82-yard run back of a kickoff, 3. Long's pass and Watson's run of 79 yards.

If you want to be technical about it, Wilson didn't actually score on his run, last mentioned. He bounced over after being tackled on the six-inch line, and the ball was automatically "skipped" at the spot. But you wouldn't quibble about six inches? So on eight touchdown plays, the opposition had totaled 592 yards, or an average of 69.5 yards.

That's the suddenest kind of sudden death.

Fight Perfect Plays

HARVARD HAS PLAYED CHAMPIONSHIP football inside its own 20-yard lines, but has experienced temporary miasma and dizzy spells upfield. So for the third time in three weeks it has gotten itself lashed by runs which started from the deep tangled wildwood—sensational picture-book runs of the kind which every varsity coach dreams about in his sleep. Every coach, of course, pictures his plays as touchdowns. That is, if all his men do exactly as he planned them to do. In his original blackboard diagram, there would be nobody left on the opposing side to interfere or obstruct the man who is carrying the ball. So there is your touchdown.

Of course the perfect play exists in theory only. Coaches of teams

THINGS are looking up for Dave Powell, classy East Boston welter, who competes in Golden Glove trials tonight.

Feather Title Bout

Archibald Meets Belloise Tonight

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (INS)—The fight game—long dormant around these parts—climbs back into the spotlight tonight when Mike Belloise of New York tangles with Joey Archibald of Pawtucket, R. I., in a 15-round battle for the featherweight championship of the world.

The New York Boxing Commission will recognize the winner as world champion, and it is unlikely that other commissions will withhold recognition, for these are about the best fighters in a division devoid of much class since Henry Armstrong voluntarily relinquished the title.

MEDICAL STUDENT

Archibald is a 7 to 5 favorite, largely on the strength of a ten-round decision he recently gained over Belloise in Washington.

He took the sting out of Belloise's punch by crowding him from belt to belt, and he probably will stay on top of the New Yorker again tonight.

Archibald is a rugged little fellow, and he will find the long route no handicap. Belloise, however, may find the going very tough after the first ten rounds. Last winter he went through a terrible siege of double pneumonia and underwent an operation for the removal of a rib.

BELLOISE'S COMEBACK

At that time the physicians at tending him said Belloise would never be able to fight again but he fooled them.

He started training by easy stages and, when he felt he had fully regained his strength, he began looking for fights.

He has had a dozen battles, 11-0, whipped Pete Seaton, Al Reid, Paul Lee and Frank Terranova among others and in his last fight knocked out Joey Wach.

Archibald weighed in at 124½ pounds this afternoon. Belloise weighed 125½.

Temple Next

Eagles Drill on Dummy

Long dummy scrimmage sessions were on tap for Boston College, as the football squad prepared to face an intensive drive for Temple this afternoon at the Heights.

The Temple game under lights at Fenway stadium will be a much harder task than the one at the college, according to scouts. Temple is the real test and, while it was just the first night game, Coach O'Connell found it a very trying one. A number of touchdowns were scored during the game.

After the way Temple College demonstrated the defense during the game, the coaches are confident about the team's chances. The game was a very different one from the one played under the Harvard stadium lights, where it has had a lot of experience.

Purple Students Loyal to Team

WORCESTER, Oct. 17 (AP)—Holy Cross, 14-0, led off at Fenway.

Although the Holy Cross team at Fenway is in the Saturday for the first time, it is a game of the returning Crusaders. It is not a game of the college.

At Fenway, the team is a team of the college. The team is a team of the college. The team is a team of the college.

Quincy Manets Floor J. Club

Two touchdowns in the last three minutes of play in the Quincy Manets game. The game was a very trying one.

Saturday's Football Stars

George Lusk, back, earned 14 yards on a drive from scrimmage to lead Yale to its eighth victory. Lusk's touchdown pass to Tom Sisk was the key play of the game. Lusk's touchdown pass to Tom Sisk was the key play of the game.

HARVARD STRONGER

Boston Reported Fit, Ready

As far as man-power is concerned Harvard promises to be stronger against Dartmouth next Saturday than in any of its past three games.

All the heavy-duty performers against Army escaped serious injury and it is expected that Coach Boston and Asst. Harding will have backs who were ailing during that tilt, will be physically O.K. before the game.

Moreover, the coach with the students revealed a new strategy to assist the Crimson players. It is a new strategy to assist the Crimson players.

But the more athletic players made their own contribution. The team is a team of the college. The team is a team of the college.

So the Harvard team will have to be shown that Dartmouth is the better team before they will not it.

SCOUTS ACTIVE

Crimson scouts will be on the job at Hanover and Saturday at Indians' Hol. Millard, Ed. Harlow, and Colby Howe flash All-American backfield cases.

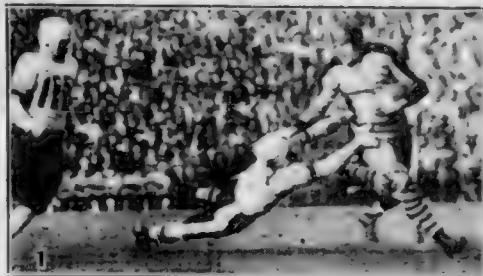

At the same time they saw Brown push over two touchdowns and until the final quarter when the blink boys end was forward passes.

WILSON BRILLIANT

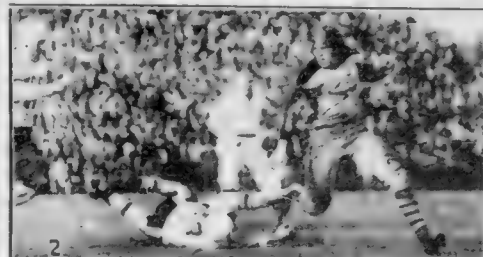

While admitting that he had some costly mistakes, Ed Wilson, Harvard's quarterback, said he was very happy with his play.

Redskins Regain Pro Grid Lead

Nip Lions As Dodgers Go Down

By the Associated Press

Washington Redskins, defending National Professional Football League champions, regained sole possession of the lead in the loop's Eastern Division in a general shipshape of the sectional standings.

In the western half of the circuit, meantime, Green Bay's high-scoring Packers also created a change by advancing to second place, behind the pace-setting Chicago Bears.

The Redskins, deadlocked for the eastern lead with Brooklyn after last week's games, nipped the Detroit Lions, 7 to 5, with a third-period touchdown in a close game at Detroit to break the tie. Brooklyn, at the same time, was handed a 35-7 going over by the Packers.

DODGERS DROP

These two results had the combined effect of dropping the Dodgers into third place in the eastern standings, behind the New York Giants as well as the Redskins, and sinking the Lions to the third spot in the western half, trailing the Bears and Packers.

The Bears went to work in the second and third quarters to trounce their neighborhood rivals, the Chicago Cardinals, 34-28, and thus retain the western pace. The Giants climbed into the eastern second slot with a 17-7 verdict over Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Cleveland were the only clubs to have the day off.

A Detroit punt blocked by Wes Wilkie Wilkin led to Washington's victory over Detroit. The half bounced out of bounds on the Lions' 17 and four plays later Andy Farkas went over. In New York, fumbles played the major part in the scoring. Both the Giants' touchdowns and Philadelphia's single score were the result of "fumble-lis."

PACKERS RED HOT

The Packers played their best football of the year to rout Brooklyn. They nipped the Dodger line apart and forward-passed the Brooklyn daisy. The first Green Bay touchdown came in the first five minutes of play and after that it was no contest.

The Bears came to life after being held to a 7-all standoff in the first period. They scored twice in the second session and twice more in the third before the Cardinals put on a closing rush that felt one touchdown short of tying.

One of the largest crowds of the season turned out for the four games, a total of 110,651 fans paying their way through the turnstiles. Largest turnout was at Detroit where 42,850 jammed Briggs Stadium for the city's biggest football attendance ever.

Was the battle cry of the Dolan club in their no score tie with the Rosindale Holy Name club at Fens Stadium yesterday. Chuck Wilson, husky back of the Rosindale club, was unable to penetrate the Dolan line as the photo shows.

Dolan Club Held to Tie

The Dolan Club of Jamaica Plain found the revamped Rosindale Holy Name team a tarlar in their sets at the Fens Stadium yesterday. The Dolan team was the odds on favorite before game time, but Rosindale kept their slate intact by rallying when ever their goal line was threatened. The game ended in a 0 to 0 tie.

The game was marked with a casualty, as Harry Whiston, Dolan quarterback, was hurt in the opening period and rushed to the hospital in a police wagon. It was reported that he received three broken ribs.

At Roberts Playground, Dorchester, the Codman club ran up the highest number of points accumulated in a top Park League game for a number of years as they swamped East Boston Town team, 40 to 0.

Dodgers to Pay Durocher $17,500

By the Associated Press

Upsets and how . . . Most of the experts were knocked for a dozen or so loops and still are groggy . . . You can feature Columbia losing for that team was to get its lumps, but how about Princeton beating Penn? . . . Tad Wieman's Tigers really went to town, didn't they? . . . And Syracuse over Cornell, which just about ruined the season for the Red . . . And Tulane over Rice, to say nothing of Yale over Navy . . .

For a team supposed to be a powerhouse, Duke is having trouble . . . Best it could do over Colgate was 7-0 and Saturday a bruised and battered Georgia Tech club held them 6-0 . . . Mighty glad to see Slippery Rock, one of our favorite colts, beat Westminster, 7-6. The cleanest football game this year was the North Carolina-New York University game . . . George Starnweiss won the game for North Carolina, but the best back on the field was Ed Williams, the New York U. Negro.

LOUIS IN MOVIES

Lee Tolley, the head linesman, said it was the first time in almost 20 years of grid officiating that he didn't call an off side penalty . . . And Harris Moriarty, the umpire from Birmingham, who unfortunately died on the field, called only two penalties—both against North Carolina . . . The guy who really deserves the congrats is Ossie Solem of Syracuse . . . What a rally his gang put on!

Joe Louis is making movie shorts in Hollywood . . . Wake Forest football team seems to have what it takes—and more . . . Lee Durocher will get $17,500 per year for managing the Dodgers, which is more than any guy ever got since the days of Wilbert Robinson.

Harvard Deserved Hanover Indians a Better Fate Coming to Town

By JACK CONWAY

I DIDN'T HAVE any right to win on my parley of Army and Dartmouth... Harvard was entitled to a victory over Army, and rated a better break from Fate... Dick Harlow's team clearly outplayed West Point, and if it had not been for a few bad breaks would have won.

Harvard looked particularly impressive in the first half when it outplayed Army in every branch of play... Then the Cadets put on their wild surge in the second half, and just managed to win... At that Harvard ground-rushed the Army, and also gained more ground by the use of the forward pass... If Boston had been able to have played more than he did, Harvard would have won... Harvard missed Boston, especially on kickoffs... When Boston was sent into the game to do his specialty, he looked brilliant... His 23-yard kick from placement for a time looked to be the winning margin... Then the Army got loose by using its forward passing game, and Dick Harlow was deprived of the honor of being the first Harvard coach to gain a victory over Army in the Stadium.

When Dartmouth comes down from the hills of Hanover on Saturday, it will find Harvard represented by a powerful team that is clicking... Last fall Dick Harlow expected Harvard to win from Dartmouth, and was deeply disappointed when his team was beaten on a slippery field by a score of 20 to 2... Harvard later got going on high and ended its season with wins over Princeton and Yale.

After reading Bill Grimes' story of Dartmouth's triumph over Brown, I am convinced Tom Thorp knew what he was talking about when he declared the Indians are the Yankees of football... Thorp says any player on the Dartmouth team is likely to execute a winning play at any time... That finish Dartmouth put on at Hanover proved Thorp's statement to be 100 per cent correct.

Holy Cross, while edged by Carnegie Tech by a score of 7 to 6, is still one of the great football teams of the East... It is to be regretted that failure to get a lone point after touchdown should have marred Holy Cross' record... The Purple went through 1937 undefeated, and Carnegie Tech was the first eleven to win over it this season... Notre Dame wins again!... Victory is still a habit with the South Bend eleven.

Getting Ready for All-America Bouts

THE GOLDEN Glove tourney at the Arena, under the direction of the Irish-American, A. A., is getting New England's amateur boxers ready for the Hearst All-America boxing tournament which will open at the Arena on November 7... Tom Kanaly and George Freeman are particularly pleased with the large amount of new talent... There are dozens of new punch flingers, and they have been displaying brilliant form in the Golden Glove bouts... Another one of these shows is billed for tonight... Later, the best of these youngsters will strive for honors in the Hearst All-America show.

The future of professional boxing depends upon the number of boys who are developed in the amateur ranks... Many of the former All-America champions are now doing well in the ranks of the professionals... Included in this list are George Martin, Salvatore Bartolito, Joe Rubin, Roy Kelley and Abe Denner.

There will be four sets of trials in this year's New England sectional battles of the Hearst All-America tourney... They will be held at the Arena on November 7, November 14, November 21 and November 28... The New England finals will be held in the Garden on December 8, while the All-Eastern finals will take place at the Garden on December 12... Teams representing New England, New York, Syracuse, Albany and Baltimore will participate in the All-Eastern finals... This should be one of the greatest amateur boxing shows ever held in New England... The grand national finals will take place in Detroit in January.

Random Shots at Target

STEVE CASEY, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, and his three brothers, Pat, Jim and Tom, are on the high seas bound for the United States... Upon their arrival in New York they will be met by Paul Bowser and rushed to Boston... Bowser has made the Casey brothers an attractive offer to meet the best available opponents at the Eddie Hurley Memorial wrestling show that will be held at the Garden on October 27... Tom Casey has done some boxing in Ireland... He was a wrestler before he went in for boxing, and has decided to go back to the mat game.

Saturday certainly had its football surprises apart from Harvard's sensational showing against the Army... Yale defeated the Navy, Colgate upset Columbia, Princeton trounced Penn, while Syracuse defeated Cornell... Football teams are getting to be like thoroughbred race horses... They run out of the money on one Saturday, and the next Saturday come down front a winner like a true champion.

Hope you were one of the fortunates who had a small wager on Stage Beauty which won at Narragansett on Saturday to pay $35.00 in the feature race... Stage Beauty and Rough Time, Dave Wilson tells me, were nose apart at the finish... Bill Shelley did a good job handicapping this race... A racing secretary alerts the weights in a way which he hopes will result in a blanket finish.

Ratcliffe Wins Spurs At B. U.

By MURRAY KRAMER

George Ratcliffe, the unsung member of Boston University's versatile backfield has finally won his spurs.

While Solly Nechem, Russ Lawry and Earle Crompton were being hailed as triple threats—Ratcliffe proved their equal.

After his brilliant play against Upsilon he is certain to start against the Army Saturday.

George intercepted one pass and gained 30 yards for a score. On another occasion he carried over from the 13-yard line on two off tackle shots against the invaders.

Now that Ratcliffe has found his bearings, the Terrans have another threat to use against Army.

Pat Hanley has cause for worry. Solly Nechem and Rollie Bernard, two of his stars, are now rated as doubtful starters.

NECHEM HURT Nechem aggravated the strained muscles in his side and back. While this injury is not serious, it is painful and may keep him out of action for a few days.

Bernard came up with a bad knee and there's no telling as yet whether he will be available Saturday.

Coach Lew Manly of Tufts will continue to make changes in his squad until he strikes a winning combination. Middlebury trounced the Jumbos Saturday.

The big Jumbo problem seems to be in the line... the frontier wall refuses to clean out for the backs and as a result the running attack has been nil.

Report Stewart to Resign

There's a very good football game scheduled to be played in the Harvard Stadium next Saturday... And, don't go for that loose chatter that the Big Green will toss the Crimson into the Charles River... Dartmouth is by no means as formidable as some of the experts would lead you to believe... While, on the other hand, Harvard is coming in leaps and bounds... The Indians of the North have weathered encounters with Bates, St. Lawrence, Princeton and Brown... The Crimson has yet to come up with its initial victory of the season... Freddie Corcoran is practically committing between here and New York... He came over from Gotham by boat Friday night for the Harvard-Army game... Back he went to New York last night to watch the filming of Sam Snead's picture... The weather and lack of replacements licked Brown at Hanover last Saturday... And, in the event that you don't think it was HOT in Hanover listen to this... Bob McLeod, Bob Gibson and Whit Miller lost eleven pounds, Larry Dilkes dropped thirteen... Didn't get any data on the poundage lost by these Brown Iron Men who played through the sixty minutes of that hectic battle... But, the above mentioned members of the Big Green sat on the sidelines for thirteen minutes of the third period... It's a grave mistake and also unfair to the boy himself, to promote any inferior player, who happens to have an "in" to the first varsity... Casey Stengel and the "Mrs" are down in Texas looking over "Casey's" old interests... As soon as "Old Case" gets the desired information, the Stengels will drive to the Coast... Patty Berg, the women's national champion, is a student at the University of Minnesota... Is pro football on the wane... It looks no with Pittsburgh cancelling a game due to lack of players... What's this rumor that Bill Stewart will resign from the National League?... It's high-time that some hockey news came out of Providence... And, while on the subject of hockey, Coach Fred Hitchman of the Springfield Indians is a victim of phlebitis... And, is confined to his bed at Quebec... Leo Diegel, the well known pro golfer, who was injured by an automobile, after turning in a 70 for his first round at Cleveland, has started to practice, in preparation for the winter circuit... Don't overlook John McLaughry, Brown for your All-New England eleven... When your McLaughry hits 'em they stay hit.
